

Project Grant: 48 Hours Residency Application

Due by December 31, 2015

48 Hours, is a new initiative of Project Grant that aims to bring together a diverse group of creative thinkers and makers over the course of a weekend to engage in discourse and a “final” collaborative project that addresses social justice issues. Project Grant is seeking creative professionals from all backgrounds including but not limited to: architecture, dance, design, literature, performance, sound, theater, visual arts, and urban planning. Participants should have an interest in social justice issues relating to accessibility, economic inequalities, and/or sustainability.

This residency is free and open to all, but room is limited to 8 participants per weekend. Current students are eligible to apply. Participants are responsible for their own expenses, such as food, drink and travel. The residency does have a limited amount of room to host participants, so priority will be given to those living locally or with their own accommodations. Participants may be able to attend more than one weekend session.

48 Hours will take place: January 15-18, February 19-22 & March 18-21, 2016. On Friday, there will be a meet & greet, and the main sessions will run Saturday-Sunday. The “final” collaborative project will be unveiled on Monday. If you are not able to participate with the final, please state that in your availability.

If you are interested in applying, please submit this application to: projectgrantbuffalo@gmail.com.

Section 1: CV

- If your current resume is listed on your website you can submit a link.

Section 2: Images
